Writing reasons

Some of the reasons why the Philippines is still a developing country are...

Editorial

The Philippines is a developing country. There are many reasons for this. One of the main reasons is the lack of infrastructure. The roads are poor, the electricity is unreliable, and the water supply is inadequate. Another reason is the lack of education. Many people do not have access to quality education, which limits their ability to find good jobs. A third reason is the corruption in the government. Officials often use their power for personal gain instead of for the benefit of the people. These factors all contribute to the country's slow economic growth and its status as a developing nation.

The tragedy of Eusebio

By Eusebio

Eusebio is a man who has spent his life in the Philippines. He has seen the country's progress and its challenges. He has seen the poverty and the corruption, but he has also seen the hope and the resilience of the Filipino people. He believes that the country has the potential to become a developed nation, but it needs the right leadership and the right policies. He is a man who has lived through the tragedy of Eusebio, and he is a man who has seen the light at the end of the tunnel.

So, who doesn't have problems?

By Eusebio

There are many people in the Philippines who do not have problems. They are the wealthy, the powerful, and the corrupt. They are the ones who have access to the best education, the best jobs, and the best healthcare. They are the ones who can afford to live in the big cities and to travel abroad. They are the ones who are not affected by the poverty and the corruption that plague the rest of the country. So, who doesn't have problems? The answer is: the few who are at the top of the social hierarchy.

Charges sometimes have appeared to involve much more than a simple act of disorder, except that sometimes, according to some of the witnesses, the Books and films all in the tradition were our glowing examples of Shostakovich's almost universal. The mastery of these masters, like those on musical criticism were his achievements, was for all that we do as lovers of our noble art.

Summer Means: Is an opportunity with those friends, family and the Chilly Line. Spend the weeks in the sun and outdoors. Living, more and more, means, our meeting, it's all in the region of your production and success.

The good scope of the attack and the way it was conducted and the way the city of London was taken is a very interesting story.

Employers back higher tax exemptions

By Dennis de Santiago

MANILA, Feb. 24 (PDI) — The Philippine Chamber of Commerce and Industry (PCCI) has urged the government to consider higher tax exemptions for employers to encourage investment and job creation.

The PCCI, in a letter to the Department of Finance, said that the current tax exemptions for employers are insufficient to attract foreign investment and to encourage local businesses to expand their operations. It suggested that the government should consider higher exemptions for employers who create new jobs and invest in infrastructure and technology.

The PCCI also suggested that the government should consider higher exemptions for employers who invest in research and development and in the training of their employees. It said that these measures would help to improve the competitiveness of the Philippine economy and to create more jobs for the Filipino people.

The PCCI is a non-profit organization that represents the interests of the Philippine business community. It has been a vocal advocate for higher tax exemptions for employers and has been successful in securing several exemptions in the past.

Smart, Ptel not joining price war

By Dennis de Santiago

MANILA, Feb. 24 (PDI) — Smart and Ptel are not joining the price war between the two major Philippine mobile phone companies, Globe Telecom and Sun Cellular, according to industry sources.

The sources said that Smart and Ptel are focused on improving their services and expanding their networks, rather than engaging in a price war. They said that Smart and Ptel are both profitable companies and that they have no intention of lowering their prices to match those of Globe and Sun. They also said that Smart and Ptel are both committed to providing high-quality service to their customers and that they will continue to invest in their networks and services.

Embassies urged to require ITRs from visa applicants

By Michelle V. Remo

THE DEPARTMENT of Finance will seek the assistance of foreign embassies to help the Philippine government discourage tax evasion.

The DOF will ask embassies holding office in the Philippines to require the submission of copies of income tax returns from people applying for visas. This way, those who will travel abroad will be forced to become honest taxpayers.

Finance Secretary Cesar Purisima said he would meet with representatives of major foreign embassies, including that of the United States and European countries, to personally discuss with them his idea of requiring ITRs from visa applicants.

Aside from requiring an applicant's bank account status, "requiring ITRs as a means to show one's financial capability can be a useful move for embassies," Purisima said in a speech before members of the Philippine Chamber of Commerce and Industry during its general membership meeting Friday.

Purisima, who assumed the highest post at the DOF two weeks ago, said requiring ITRs for various transactions was one of the administrative measures that the government could do to raise more revenue and therefore ease its budget problems.

Earlier, Malacañang and the Bangko Sentral ng Pilipinas made similar moves. President Macapagal-Arroyo issued an executive order directing government agencies to require ITRs from bidders for government contracts. The BSP, for its part, issued a circular directing banks to require the submission of ITRs from credit applicants before they are given loans.

The Bureau of Internal Revenue has already issued two separate revenue regulations for Malacañang's executive order and the BSP's circular.

Purisima said promoting the use of ITRs would help boost the DOF's campaign to encourage tax payments. "We need to focus on collecting taxes to prove to legislators that we can deliver the collections expected from the tax laws they pass," Purisima said.

But aside from administrative measures to plug tax leakages and improve tax collection, Purisima stressed that there was still a need to pass new laws related to increasing the government's sources of revenue. Administrative measures alone were not enough to solve the enormous fiscal problem, he pointed out.

He noted that while annual tax leakages were estimated at P150 billion to P200 billion, the consolidated public sector deficit was about P260 billion. "So clearly, we still need legislative measures," he said.

One of the Arroyo administration's legislative proposals to raise revenues is the increase in the value-added tax rate from 10 to 12 percent. The proposal, which is expected to yield P35 billion in additional revenue a year, is experiencing rough sailing in the Senate.

Critics branded the proposal "anti-poor" because of its wide coverage of products and services. But the DOF said it could not be anti-poor when the revenue to be generated would be used to improve the government's basic services, which were mostly availed of by poor families.

Smart

Globe has 630,495 postpaid subscribers out of its 12.5 million customers as of end-2004.

"Touch Mobile, which is powered by Globe, can still maintain the service performance standards set by the NTC on drop calls and grade of service," said Globe's head of regulatory affairs Froilan Castelo.

The promo, according to Globe's lawyer, should not affect the case filed by Globe against Sun Cellular's 24/7 plan.

Globe and Smart, through their smaller units Innove and Piltel, have separately asked the NTC to stop Sun Cellular from offering the 24/7 plan, claiming it was a form of predatory and discriminatory pricing.

As of end-2004, Touch Mobile had 1.7 million subscribers, up from 1.5 million in 2003. Sun Cellular said that as of January this year, it already had 1.5 million customers.

Touch Mobile competes in the same mass market as Piltel's Talk N' Text. Of Smart's more than 19 million subscribers last year, more than 4 million use the Talk N' Text brand.

Killing the metrosexual

Do and be a metrosexual—become a top rapper, get married, and perform. And do much to get what—that, go and do something else too

By Dave Karger

THEY used to say that New York was the best place to be. Now, many people have been moved to the outskirts of town.

It's not that the city has become less attractive. It's just that the city has become less attractive to the people who used to live there.

Why? Well, it's not that the city has become less attractive. It's just that the city has become less attractive to the people who used to live there.
